

Stratus Telecommunications Launches Channel Program for ENTICE VoIP and Converged Services Products

ALLEN, Texas--(BUSINESS WIRE)--April 22, 2009--

Stratus Telecommunications, LLC today announced a partner program for telecommunications resellers worldwide seeking to add solutions for VoIP and converged services to their product portfolio for wireline, wireless and/or broadband service providers. Stratus Telecom's widely adopted ENTICE platform offers products ranging from a session border controller and residential/enterprise voice over broadband solutions to a converged application server that delivers services such as number portability over SIP and SS7.

Stratus Telecom is offering a full reseller program with substantial margins for VARs that want to sell and install Stratus Telecom products and provide Level I support. VARs without the resources to make that commitment also have the option to participate in a separate referral program that rewards resellers for closed sales opportunities.

Both programs enable telecommunications resellers to round out their product offerings, complement hardware such as routers and switches with more profitable application sales, and meet the needs of both conventional circuit-based service providers and newer packet-based carriers for converged solutions that bridge that gap between technologies.

Stratus Telecom's products include their ENTICE converged application server, which handles both SS7 and SIP traffic on a single platform, and the Stratus Telecom ENTICE E-REV services deployment platform, which simplifies retail and/or enterprise VoIP installations by bundling an application server, session border controller, billing system, unified messaging system, endpoint provisioning system and value-added features such as prepaid/postpaid services in one integrated package that interfaces with existing and next-generation networks.
